

At What Point – Building

At what point does your house become a home? Is it the first time you give the drywaller a cup of coffee or the first time you make one yourself in your new kitchen? Is it when you finally decide on the wall color? Or when you choose between carpet and hardwood? Or carpet and tile? Is it at the first inspection or the last? Or is it the day when you can finally sit back in your favorite room and do absolutely nothing? At JELD-WEN, we happen to think it's the moment when you choose your windows and doors. They make the biggest impact for your biggest investment. They let in light. They block out noise. They keep your home comfortable all year round. And they create a personality that fits you as well as your budget. So whether you're building, remodeling or upgrading, you can trust reliable JELD-WEN products to always provide you the best for your home. And the best just happens to be what you're already looking for. For more information, visit JELD-WEN.com. JELD-WEN windows and doors. Reliability for real life.
